ABOUT LEVERAGE GLOBAL PARTNERS

Leverage began in 2012 with a question, how can independent brokerages compete against the larger franchises? Two leading brokers who had been in the industry for decades, first with national franchises, and then building their own respected brand, set out to tackle this challenge that they knew had been on the minds of their colleagues in the field for years. Their mission was clear: to build the most innovative and exclusive network of boutique independent real estate firms in the world, supporting and enabling them to become leaders in their markets.

The name, Leverage Global Partners, was carefully considered. The word Leverage speaks to our desire to win in real estate and in the living room, to have the necessary power to lead in the marketplace. Global refers to the reach and range of our network. Partners is a core element of how we see ourselves and everyone else we work with. We work together for the betterment of our companies, our clients, and ourselves, trusting that as the needs of others are met, so will we be served.

Our tagline, empowering your next bold move, embraces who we are and who we believe our Leverage partners are: the independent leaders in real estate who hold themselves to a high standard of excellence. This also speaks to our mission to consumers, to show them the most beautiful and luxurious properties in each market we serve.
